FOR THE HOUSEHOLD.

MUFFINS .- One pint of milk, four eggs, one pint of flour, butter size of an egg, one gill of yeast, a little sugar. Raise three hours; set in rings into a baking pan; a little soda if they are risen too much.

HOW TO MAKE MEAT TENDER.—Cut the steaks, the day before, into slices about two inches thick; rub them over with a small quantity of soda; wash off next morning, cut into suitable thickness, and cook as you choose. The same process will answer for fowls, legs o'mutton, etc. Try, all who love delicious, tender dishes of meat.

NICE SUPPER DISH .- Take out the centers of the required number of Spanish onions, insert in each onion a kidney, and place before the fire in a Dutch oven until the vegetable is cooked. The kidneys will be found to be dried and indigestible, but the onions will have absorbed all the goodness from them. The center of the onions should be placed in the Dutch oven with the rest.

GLAZED HAMS. - Sonk and boil a ham twenty minutes to the pound, and let it get almost cold in the water. Skin it neatly and cont with a paste made up of cracker crumbs, one of milk, two beaten eggs, and season with pepper. Set the ham in the oven until the glazing is browned, moisting now and then with a few spoonfuls of cream. Wind frilled paper about the shank, and garnish with parsley.

CHOCOLATE CREAM.—Put into a small stew-pan a pint of milk and six ounces of pounded loaf sugar; make it very hot, and then stir into it half a pint of made of chocolate and the beaten yolks of seven eggs; put it into a jug, stand it in a scucepan of boiling water, stir it one way until it becomes rather thick, but do not let it boil; then strain it through muslin, and stir into it a large cupful of cream; pous it on to the cakes and set on ice.

LEMONETTE.-Pare and core some apples, and boil till nearly tender, and of these take one pound; to this add the juice of rather more than half a lemon and the grated peel of a whole one, sweeten to taste with powdered loaf sugar-about one pound is usually sufficient; to this add the yolks of eight eggs, and the whites of six well-beaten, three ounces of butter liquid sufficiently to mix them with, and beat up all together; put into a pie dish, and bake for nearly an hour.

The Cabbage Worm.

If you have a thousand remedies against the cabbage worm, prepare to us them all, for never before have we seen the butterflies of this worm so abundant as at this time. Already the worms have commenced eating the young plants of winter cabbages, which have just been set out, and they are so numerous that leaf after leaf is reduced to a skeleton in a few hours. These worms get into the heart of the cabbage even before any head is formed, and thus will they ruin the crop.

The first remedy is to hand-pick each and every worm, big and little, and drown them all in a can of hot water. This is the most efficient way, and we know that in former years persons have made good crops by picking off the worms by hand, when other crops in the neighbrhood that were not worm picked were totally destroyed. The present insect is probaly the foreign cabbage worm. It is a pale green, bairy looking thing, growing from a small beginning to be about an inch long and as thick around as a crow's quill. It can be easily found by the extremely large quantity of excrement it dis-charges and which lodges in the forks of the leaf stems.

The butterfly that lays the eggs that produce these worms has four wings, one pair on each side, about an inch long each way, and is of a pale straw color or a dull white, with black spots and a dark tinge at the end of each wing. They fly low down at a flit along the clover and grass, frequently stopping and then fluttering away again. It flies all day long, and seems to delight in the bright rays a hot sun.

After hand-picking the worms, then with a graden watering-can thoroughly sprinkle the cabbage with boiling hot water. That is, if the water is boiling when poured into a bucket and then poured into the watering-can, and then poured out over the plants through the rose or sprinkle in fine jets, it will be sufficiently cooled down as not to injure the cabbage plants, and still be hot enough to kill all the worms the water may reach. After this operation, a weak solution of salt, say a tablespoonful to each gallon of water, should be used daily; and while the leaves are still wet, dust them with wood ashes and air-slaked lime, mixed dry in equal

These are some of the remedies recommended, and none of these are onous. Of course on an article of human food like cabbages, such poisons as Paris green, London purple, white hellebore, etc., can not be used at all. A small quantity of flowers of sulphur could be mixed in with the askes and lime, any tablespoonful to each gallon of the dust, and some persons recommend the sprinkling of strong pine tar-water as being offensive to the butterflies, and therefore preventing them from laying their eggs on the leaves where the odor of tar or sulphur remained. Entomologists further advise chasin the butterflies and capturing them with nets on sticks. Every butterfly destroyroofing them. Never let them stand kill the worm and not be otherwise injurious, but where can the pyrethrum be found?-Farmers' Home Journal.
